We want to begin by thanking you for stepping up and putting yourself forward to become a Programme Representative. By taking on this role, you're now part of a group of student leaders working to make sure everyone's voice is heard and acted on.

The work you do is essential in shaping the student experience at City St Georges. By bringing their concerns to the forefront, you help ensure that every student gets the most out of their time here.

This role also gives you the chance to grow your skills—whether it's leading, negotiating, or communicating effectively. With the training and support from City St Georges Students' Union, you'll be well-equipped to represent your classmates and make positive changes.

As your Students' Union Officers, we are all here to support you in making the positive changes you want to see. We'll work alongside you, providing guidance and collaborating to address issues that affect students across the University. Together, we can ensure that your time as a Programme Rep is not only rewarding but also impactful.

Welcome to the team!

City St George's Students' Union Officer Team

Congratulations on becoming a Programme Representative! In this role, you will play a really important part in improving the student experience at City St George's and representing the student voice.

Our University strategy places students at the heart of everything we do and as a Programme Representative, your voice is vital for shaping what this means. This year is an exciting time to be a Programme Representative as we are now a new university after the merger of City with St George's.

We really want to hear what students want from the new university and how we can support you. I'm looking forward to learning more from you and our students about all your experiences.

My strategic priorities for improving our student experience are building our university community, fixing the basics with our processes, understanding and engaging with our students.

Your experiences as a student and the experiences of others on your programme will ensure that your voice is heard and that we have the opportunity to listen and learn from you.

I hope you enjoy your time as a Programme Representative and I look forward to working with you to enact positive change for all our students

Susannah Quinsee
Vice President Digital and Student Experience

PROGRAMME REPRESENTATIVE ROLE

A Programme Rep is a student who has been elected to represent the students on their course. They represent the academic and non-academic interests of their cohort and are empowered to make positive, student-led change at City St George's.

Programme Reps play a key role in ensuring that all students have a voice and an opportunity to share feedback about their learning experience. They help students make as many positive changes as possible and ultimately, help improve the quality of education at City St George's.

What does a Rep do?

They gather the views and opinions of students on their course and communicate that feedback to academic and professional services staff. Programme Reps are an important part of the representative and changemaking structures at City St George's.

Your responsibilities are to:

- Be the key link between students on your course and programme staff.
- Represent the academic and non-academic interests of students.
- Attend and actively contribute to committees and meetings.
- Proactively engage with students and collate any feedback relating to their experience.
- Present student feedback at relevant meetings.
- Communicate key information and outcomes back to the students.
- Work closely with School Assembly Members and Students' Union Deputy President.
- Attend training sessions run by City Students' Union.
- Be a point of signposting information for students on your programme.
- Communicate regularly with the SU Representation Team.
- Promote module evaluations, NSS/PTES/PRES and other feedback systems to your cohort.
- Regularly engage with the GetHeard platform, responding to students, moderating and escalating posts.

Not your role:

- Taking on student welfare or academic issues
- To battle lecturers or staff
- Work on your own to resolve an issue instead of working with other programme reps and staff members.

The role of a Rep can be broken into 3 key areas: Research, Represent, and Report.

REPORTING BACK TO STUDENTS

Closing the feedback loop is essential. Students value sharing their concerns when they see action being taken.

Provide regular updates to your cohort to show that their feedback is being used and progress is happening. After discussing feedback with staff, always report back and keep students informed.

Use GetHeard or other methods to share these updates.

SHARE YOUR WINS

Programme Reps work hard every year to make changes happen for students. We're keen to demonstrate the impact that you have as Reps so we ask you to share your wins with us.

You'll have access to our Rep Wins form for you to submit your achievements, which will be shared on our website and in your regular Rep Newsletter.

I was able to agree with our school to have a generous marking on our Finance exam and Economics coursework as they were both far away from what we thought in lectures.

- BSc Mathematics with Finance and Economics Year 2

Timetable was not convenient, online and in-person sessions were too close for students to commute to uni. I contacted the course office, directors and relevant professors and rescheduled the timetables to try to fit in the lectures while giving students enough time to commute to uni for the in-person sessions.

- BSc Actuarial Science Year 2

I established the class's official group chat, ensuring its success by achieving 100% membership among the course participants. Additionally, I created a Discord chat, a professional pathways group chat, a girls-only group chat, a program representatives group chat, and an announcement channel.

- MSci Computer Science Year 1

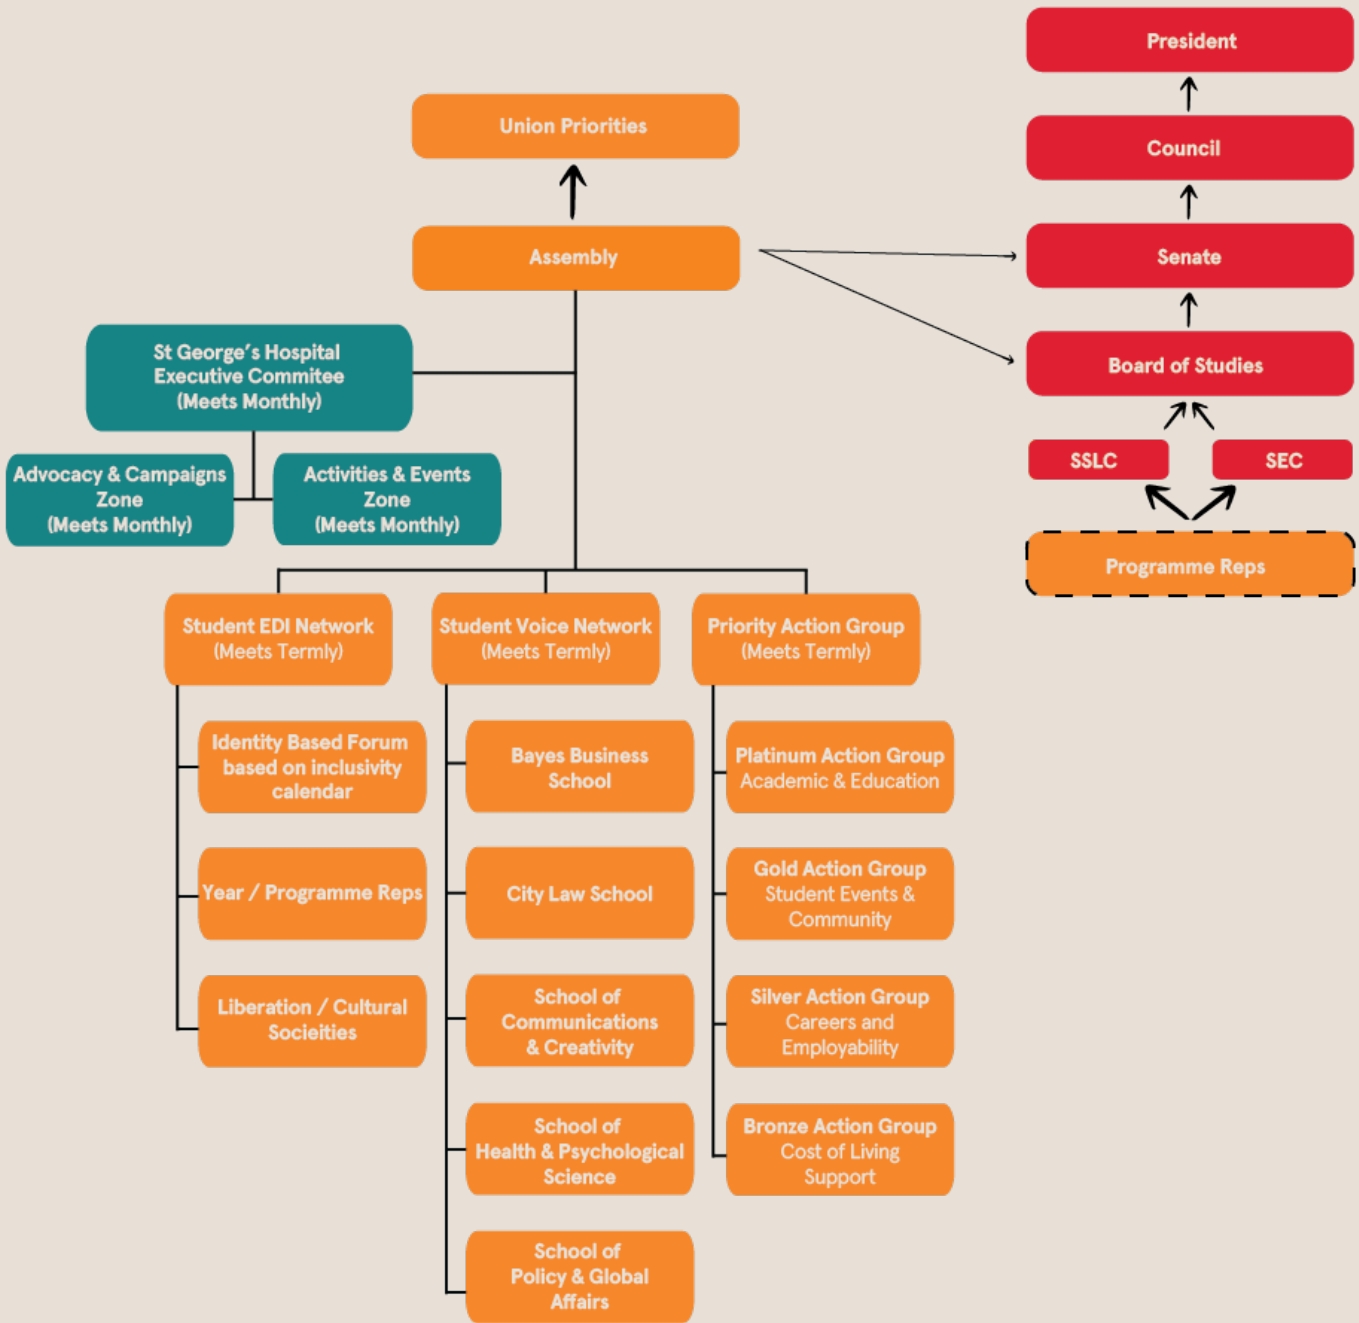

I helped the international students all year with extensions. I also helped with course work for the international's by giving them a plan of action to stay on top of their deadlines.

- MSc Criminology and Criminal Justice

I organized the SST PG Christmas Party, got the teaching assistants to give additional mathematics and programming exercises, organized a Data Science Summer party after the exam period and got the teaching assistants to give more help in the labs.

- MSc Data Science

As a Programme Rep, you're the catalyst for change. Every meeting you attend—SSLCS, SECs—feeds straight to Senate, where key decisions happen. Your voice fuels the Assembly, the Union's powerhouse of representation. Below is a diagram outlining the overall structure.

Student Communities & Events:

More funding and support for student-led community activities and events; increase the scale of societies and sports clubs; improve student belonging; regular cultural events.

Education & Academic Priorities

More engaging lectures; accessible learning resources; tackling disruptive behaviour in classrooms; investment in technology to support students study and make better notes.

Cost of Living Support:

On campus and local discounts; support with the rising cost of food; improving funding and opening access to hardship funding; affordable housing and accommodation bursaries; accessible gym prices.

Careers & Employability:

Increased networking events; interesting internships; tailor skills initiatives by course; leadership programmes for underrepresented student groups; interactive partnerships with local businesses, firms, and organisations.

RESEARCHING STUDENT OPINIONS

To represent your cohort effectively, you need to do research and find out what students are thinking. The students you represent need to know who you are and how to get in contact with you and raise their concerns. You can work alongside your course/programme leaders and fellow Reps to promote yourself and let students know you're here to listen to their opinions.

Talking to students in person is one way of gathering feedback, but it's not always the most practical. The GetHeard@City platform, which is powered by Unitu will be a key tool in gathering the views and opinions of your peers.

HOW TO GATHER FEEDBACK

Be creative in how you gather feedback and think about which ways work best for you and the students you represent.

Think about...

TIME

METHOD

Knowing who you represent will help you find the best way to approach them for feedback. Think about whether they are part-time, commuter students or on placements. To get the most complete picture of students' experiences, you will need to use a variety of different methods.

REPRESENTING STUDENTS

When presenting student feedback to staff, keep it practical, constructive, and professional. Represent the views of your entire cohort, not just your own.

Assess the urgency of feedback before choosing how to communicate it. Regularly monitor GetHeard, move posts to the public board, and assign them to staff. You'll also be required to attend meetings to present feedback to programme and school staff.

Mandatory Meetings:

STUDENT EXPERIENCE COMMITTEE (SSLCS)

- Chaired by Programme Directors
- Looks at quality of programme
- Seeks views on strengths, issues and areas for improvement in the student learning experience
- Propose changes to Programme content and delivery

TYPE OF FEEDBACK NEEDED AT SSLCS

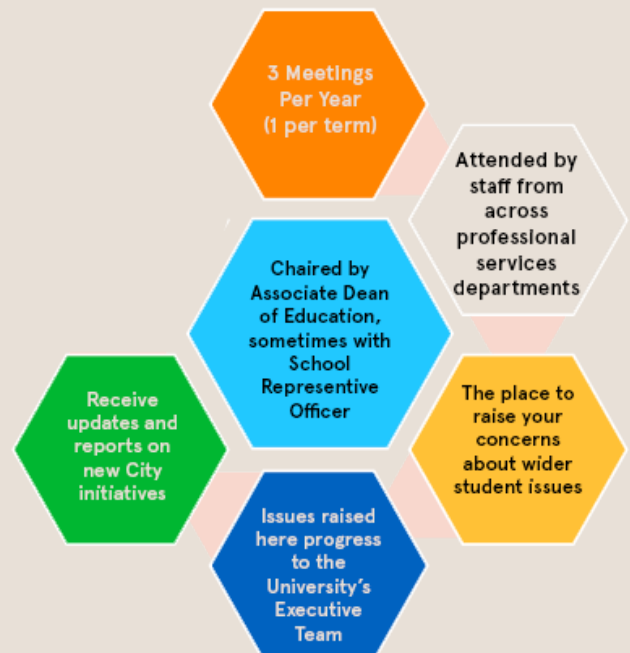

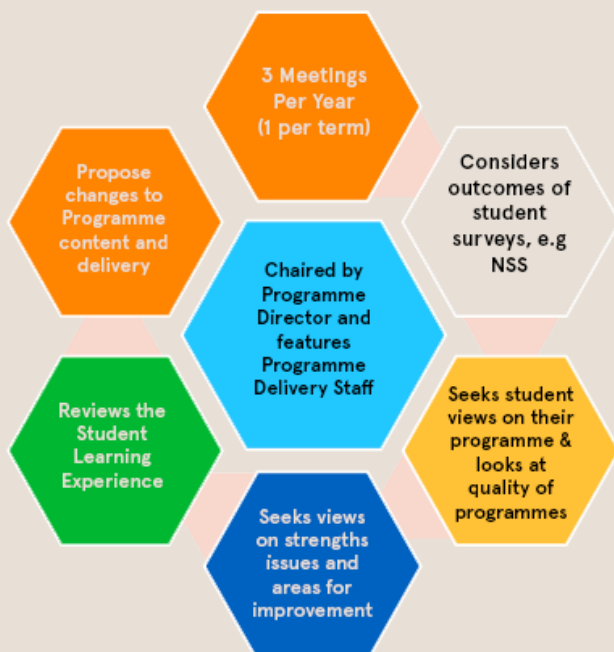

- Assessment and Exams; Assessment Guidance and Feedback; Teaching standards; Timetabling; Support Services; Outcomes of Student Evaluation; Course Organisation

STUDENT EXPERIENCE COMMITTEE (SECS)

- Chaired by School Associate Dean of Student Experience.
- Attended by Staff from across professional services departments.
- Raise your concerns about wider student issues.
- Receive updates and reports on new City initiatives

TYPE OF FEEDBACK NEEDED AT SECS

- Employability; Placement Support; IT; Community and Wellbeing; Student Space; Tuition Fee; Housing; Personal Tutoring

Preparing for Meetings

IT IS IMPORTANT THAT YOU COME PREPARED TO MEETINGS. THIS WILL ENSURE YOU GET THE MOST OUT OF IT AND FEEDBACK IS TAKEN ON BOARD.

Prior to the meeting:

- Review agendas, minutes, and posts on GetHeard.
 - Understand key student concerns.
 - Prepare evidence-backed suggestions.
- Confirm meeting details and send apologies if you can't attend.

During the meeting:

- Stay focused and engaged.
- Be assertive, but not aggressive.
- Take notes and ask questions

After the meeting:

- Report outcomes to students.
- Complete assigned tasks and follow up.

Providing Effective Feedback at Your Meetings

The ABCD rule is an approach that will help you provide feedback to avoid conflict and help create good working relationships.

Accurate – Based on evidence.

Balanced – Includes both positive and negative aspects.

Constructive – Suggest improvements.

Depersonalised – Focus on the issue, not individuals.

GetHeard is a student voice platform where students can discuss concerns, ask questions, and raise feedback about the student experience. Students are placed onto a Department Board with other students in the same or similar programmes to them, and a University Board with all students across the whole University. Each board has two sections:

Private Feedback: Posts are only visible to students and reps. As a Rep, you're responsible for answering questions and deciding if posts should be escalated to staff.

Public Feedback: Once posts are moved here, staff can engage, provide updates, and address issues. You can also raise these posts in committee meetings.

Your role on GetHeard:

- Complete Unitu Training: Enroll in the "Unitu Student Rep Training" to get started.
- Log in regularly: Activate your account and moderate your Department Board
- Respond to students: Answer questions, provide updates, and respond to students within 3 days.
- Update & Escalate: Move relevant posts from the private to public board to allow staff to respond directly.
- Moderate the Boards: Ensure discussions are respectful and manage any inappropriate content.

Top tips for using GetHeard

- Download the Unitu app: easily check your boards and respond to students from your phone
- Customise notifications.
- Introduce yourself: Post an introduction to help students recognise and connect with you.
- Engage regularly: Check the platform often and respond to student posts within 1-3 days
- Maximise engagement: Encourage likes and comments to get wider student input.
- Escalate posts for meetings: Move posts to the public board where relevant to raise issues at committee meetings.
- Summarise F=feedback: When escalating posts, summarise key points for staff.

Create your own posts: Use the board to reach all students in your programme and request feedback

Promoting GetHeard

Encourage students to use the platform for feedback and clarify its purpose. Collect feedback through other methods and post it on GetHeard to ensure a broad range of student voices are heard. Feel free to come by the Students' Union to collect A5 leaflets, A3 posters, business cards, and branded merch to support you in promoting the platform.
